FAST ACTION FILLS SHOVEL MAT CARD;

dicts. Until last night the German warrior, with his rough displays of goosing and hair pulling, never gave fans here the slightest indication that he knew the first principles of wrestling. But last night he wrestled all the way in his bout with Indian Frank Kirkland, and although he was defeated, he gained considerable prestige as a wrestler.

Through 52 ring minutes the German never so much as made a nasty grimace in Kirkland's direction, much to the surprise of those who have seen him in action previously. He won the first fall in 20 minutes with a series of rope catapults, then returned to lose the second in Kirkland's step-over for hold. In the decisive round the grapplers tied their legs in such a tough knot that even Ref. Burgett had trouble untangling it.

Von Bromberg was out in front with a leg spread and muscle pounder, when Kirkland chiselled to freedom and outwitted the Count on a rope catapult to get the fall with an ordinary shoulder press. The final round went 21 minutes. In a preliminary that had fans asking for more action, Allen Pascha of Turkey, won over the Spook, in 11 minutes. The Turk won the fall when his opponent attempted a body slam and fell underneath Pascha's body instead of on top of it.

New Books of Interest On Shelves At Library

The shelves at the Marion City Library offer inviting fare in the way of late summer and pre-school reading for both adults and juniors. The list includes new volumes in fiction, biography, travel and mystery, and will be found in the two weeks, seven-day and rental departments.

Among the offerings are Gladys Hasty Carroll's new book, "Neighbor to the Sky," "One Is Beloved," "Hunch," "Life and Death of Spanish Town," Elliot Paul, "Northward Bound," Kenneth Roberts, "The Red Box," Rex Stout, "Men of Mathematics," Bell, "Three Worlds," Van Doren, "The Year," Woolf, and for children "Roller Skates," by Ruth Sawyer, winner of the 1927 Newbery medal, Richard Halliburton's new book for juveniles, "The Occident," and "The Story of Ferdinand," by Munro Leaf.

Story of Island Town. Elliot Paul's story of the little town of Santa Eulalia on an island off the Spanish mainland is as typical of all Spain as Midwestern or Wabash, Ohio, are typical of the United States. For five years he lived among the people, shared their work and learned their problems. With the outbreak of a Civil war death and hatred were let loose upon the tranquil inhabitants of the town with hour-breaking consequences.

"The Red Box" is an intriguing mystery story. The sudden death, apparently from a box of poisoned candy, of a lovely model in an expensive exclusive dress shop, takes Nero Wolfe from his house, his sturdy elevator and his orchids to visit the scene of the crime. Of course he solves a case almost without parallel in the colorful history of the killings, and the inevitable Archie is again very much to the fore.

The Newbery medal winner "Roller Skates," is a delightful story of a New York boy, a tomboy who could not help being a lady at the same time, who was both quick-tempered and sympathetic, both stubborn and astute. Lucinda's year in New York City, when her family went to Europe and left her for a while with Aunt Minnie and her four little daughters but with Miss Peters who understood that a girl of 10 wanted to roller skate to school, chat with her friend, and make friends, even play with Tony, whose father kept a full stand down the street. The Newbery medal, donated annually by Frederic Melcher of the Publishers Weekly, is awarded by the American Library Association each year for the most distinguished children's book by an American, old or new.

Adult members of the family will share the delight of the juniors in Richard Halliburton's new book. Beginning with the wonders of our own continent the author takes his young friends traveling and adventuring with him to South America and Europe. "Have you seen the two largest bridges in the world?" he asks. "One crosses the Golden Gate and the other spans the bay from the harbor to Oakland, Mexico, the Black King Christopher's Castle in Spain, the Panama Canal, Gibraltar, Mount St. Michael, Cathedral of Reims, St. Bernard and La Zoume dogs, St. Peter's in Rome, Moscow and Santa Sophia, all follow in good time.

To be found also in the ever popular "How to Win Friends and Influence People" by Dale Carnegie, a practical and immediately useful working handbook of guidance in both business and social life.

IT'S ODD But It's Science

BY HOWARD W. BEARSLER
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK—A stock of corn or of poker chips, representing the structure of certain microscopic crystals that have the power to change themselves into living things.

The crystals are the tobacco mosaic virus, which acts like bacteria in causing a tobacco plant disease. They are inanimate matter, which when it gets together in a unit of the right shape, and in the presence of already living matter, become alive themselves.

They are able to reproduce. Their structure is supposed to have something to do with the ability to come to life. This structure has been found with the aid of X-rays by J. D. Bernal and I. Fankuchen, Crystallographic Laboratory, Cambridge, England, and is described in the official British science journal, Nature.

The protein molecules get together in this flat shape. They are not round like coins but hexagonal. They stack like coins and the result is a long, thin crystal, which seems to be the missing link between the living and the inanimate world.

NO SHEEP CLAIMS FILED IN COUNTY

Other Counties, However, Report Heavy Loss to Flooding

For the second time in recent weeks, no claims for sheep killed or injured by water were filed with County Dog Warden Elmer Olson in the week ended Saturday, according to a report filed with the Marion county commissioners.

Ullman also reported that sheep claims in the last six weeks have totaled only $4,350, said to be one of the lowest totals for a similar period ever recorded here. Eighty dogs, six of them females, were seized last week.

While Marion county is experiencing a minimum of attacks on sheep, flock, the situation in several adjoining counties is considerably different, according to newspaper reports today. For example, claims for killed or injured sheep in Morrow county last week totaled $500, bringing to approximately $1,000 the total of claims subject to payment by the Morrow county commissioners.

WOMEN JOIN MEN PICKETING PLANT

More Trouble Feared Following Riot Yesterday in Which 11 Were Hurt.

By The Associated Press
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 24.—Women and children joined their men folk on the picket lines at the strike-bound Heppner Steel Co. today as union leaders expressed fear of a renewal of yesterday's riot in which 11 were injured.

William Hart, head of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee local 2, company vice president, attempted to break the lines and open the gates.

Approximately 50 pickets were on duty yesterday as four carloads of non-strikers led by C. W. Heppner, company vice president, attempted to break the lines and open the gates.

Five strikers, an equal number of non-strikers and a policeman at Lawrenceville where the plant is located, were battered in the hand-to-hand fighting with bricks, clubs, bottles and fists.

Police reserves quelled the disorder and patrolled the area throughout the night.

Police searched the plant and reported there were no workers or munitions there. They were "lying" about the workers and declared: "If the police don't bring them out, we're going to do it ourselves."

The four-hour riot was the second outbreak of violence in the seven weeks strike for a collective bargaining contract. Several days ago one picket was hurt as Heppner's plant fought his way into the mill.

Heppner swung a sledge hammer as he led the non-strikers to the gates yesterday. As he started pounding the lock, Mrs. Leona Stein, an eyewitness, said, one of the pickets grabbed him.

A policeman ran up, she related, and told Heppner he had orders to bar everyone from the plant, which normally employs 900.

"Then the cop got hit in the face," she said, "the men jumped out of the cars and strikers and other men were all coming running. They grabbed milk bottles, rocks, anything they could get. The company men all had clubs."

BLOC OPPOSES EXTRA SESSION

House Group Believes Fall Meeting Would Increase Dissension.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Aug. 24—A group of influential house Democrats expressed strong opposition today to a special congressional session in the fall on the grounds it might increase party dissension.

One leader, who preferred not to be mentioned by name, said "no practical good and maybe some harm" would come from a special session on farm and wage-hour legislation. He said he and others of the same view would advise President Roosevelt before leaving the capital.

He argued time was needed to allow heated tempers to cool and that it would be poor policy for the President to run the risk of reopening party strife in October or November.

Want to Repair Fences
Many members, he said, might feel none too kindly toward administration and its legislative program if they were summoned back to Washington while in the midst of building political fences for next year's election.

To the contention that action on a farm bill and wage-hour measure in the fall would permit shortening the regular January session, this party chief said that a special session would not mean "taking 15 minutes off the regular session."

Some house members nevertheless said they would prefer to have the farm and labor standards measures disposed of in a special session, and talk resumed that the President would call one.

Rep. Miller, Democrat of Arkansas, said he thought a special session might be desirable. Miller talked to the President yesterday and predicted afterwards that Mr. Roosevelt would announce in a few days whether he will call one.

Bankhead Predicts Call
Speaker Bankhead at Birmingham predicted yesterday the session would be called.

Secretary Wallace left the White House yesterday asserting he favored a special meeting and several legislators who have seen Mr. Roosevelt in the last few days indicated the chief executive was considering the possibility strongly.

One reported the President considered an extra session would be almost imperative should he feel compelled to veto the sugar tariff bill.

The President objected, prior to passage of the bill, to the restriction it places on shipments of refined sugar from Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

MOTION PICTURE SHOW TO MARK SAFETY PROGRAM

Entertainment To Be Brought Here by Portable Unit Now on Tour of State.

An educational safety campaign, featuring moving pictures which graphically portray the hazards of the highway, will be held here Aug. 24 and 25, under the joint sponsorship of the State Safety Council and the Marion Chamber of Commerce. The pictures will be headed by a length Paramount feature, "Auto Death," with Randolph Scott, Frances Drake and Tom Brown in the leading roles. Two other subjects, "Hit-and-Run Driver" and "Safety For Sale," both played by notable actors and illustrating the life-and-death predicaments with the average driver can get into by making even a slight mistake on the highway.

Accompanying the pictures will be a sound speaker, movie projector, and educational display. It is now touring the state in an all-Ohio campaign by the State Safety Council.

The safety program launched by the state council last year calls for the elimination of all hazards on highways which cause hundreds of deaths each year. Studies conducted by the council's research experts show that improper lighting conditions on streets and highways cause much of the after-dark carnage in Ohio. They found that 80 per cent of all fatal accidents occur at night.

Ohio is now No. 34, jumping up seven places from No. 41 in 1935, among the 48 states of the country, according to information received by W. D. Brown, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. Last year 7,159 people were killed in auto mishaps in Ohio.

The Ohio safety council is co-operating with city, county and state law enforcement officials in conducting its campaign. Its complete program is to reduce accidents, sponsor educational programs in schools and churches; promote health education; educate against fires; and promote a balanced state, county and city safety program.

160-ACRE FARM RUN BY GIRL, 18

MARY ANN KASMARISKI, 18, is a full-time farmer. She is a Kenton, Ohio, native. From a convent classroom to boss farmer—12 months. That's the success story of 18-year-old Mary Ann Kasmariski.

The evidence: 160 rich acres of about-to-be harvested grain and a yard full of sleek cattle, workhorses, chickens, ducks and pigs.

Mary Ann hadn't planned to be a farmer. But last year as she pursued the quiet convent life of a student at the Academy of Holy Names, her father was stricken with death by a team of runaway horses.

Home came Mary Ann and went to work where her dad had left off.

This spring she plowed, dragged, planted and cultivated—all by herself—25 acres of corn, 25 acres of oats, four acres of potatoes and harvested 60 acres of hay.

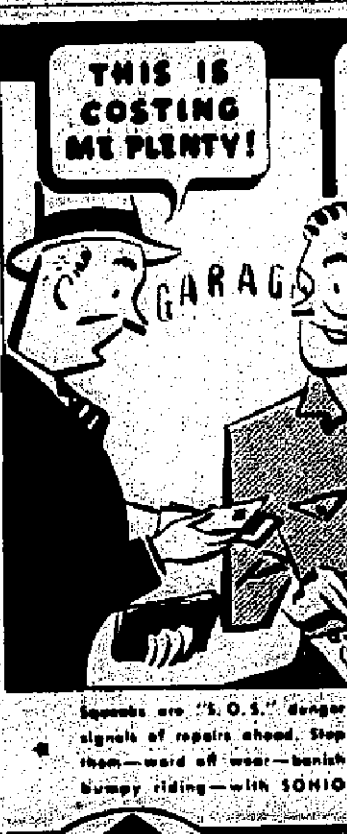

Except that her mother and two sisters help milk their 25 cows, Mary Ann's only outside assistance will come during threshing time.

Demonstration Will Be Held Thursday Near Forest.

Farmers from this and other sections of Ohio are expected to attend a program of tractor demonstrations, which will be given Thursday on the Olivet (Red) Kurtz farm two miles south of Forest. The farm is near state route 53.

Tractor tests will be made in the morning and afternoon, with the principal demonstrations starting at 1:30 p. m.

One of the major tests will be to determine the difference in plowing acreage and power between a tractor using kerosene and one using high compression gasoline as fuel. A second test will be made to determine the advantages of rubber-tired tractors.

The tractors used will be identical International Harvester units, one of them having been converted to the use of high compression fuel by Ray Hempy, tractor dealer at Forest. The gasoline-burning tractor also will be used in the test of rubber-tired equipment.

Professor G. W. McCuen, head of the agricultural engineering faculty at Ohio State university, and other members of the university faculty, are expected to watch the tests, in which the Standard Oil Co. of Ohio is cooperating.

The Lag.

THE TASK of the immediate future as it probably appears to new dealers at this time, is to overcome the lag between ambition and achievement which handicapped them in the first session of the 75th congress.

During the time until congress re-convenes, new dealers will attempt to revitalize their movement. This will be done in various ways—speeches, propaganda and political pressure on members of congress.

At the same time, of course, the opposition will be attempting to minimize the effect of whatever is attempted by this position is that enough already has been done, that the new deal should be content now to continue at half speed while the country adjusts itself.

It is a question as to which side will have greater success. Certainly, a new deal leadership must recognize that under representative government a program of reform can go no further than the people are willing to have it. Likewise, the opposition is aware that whatever success it has had in retarding the new deal is due to the fact that congressmen believed a majority of their constituents had lost some of their reform fervor.

Thus, it is the people who ultimately will decide the question. Their decision will be easier to make, with congress adjourned and a lull in the tumult and shouting which, some times, seem as though they had been continuous ever since March, 1933.

Odds Still Unfavorable.

THIRD PARTY speculation has been touched off again by criticism of the Democratic party from John L. Lewis. The CIO leader charges Democratic leadership is unable to carry out its promise, implying he believes it is going to be necessary for him to create his own political party to get what he wants.

Mr. Lewis is formidable. For the time being, at least, he is able to influence enough votes to make him the key man in many political situations. Politicians must take him seriously.

Nevertheless, for reasons which have nothing to do with organized labor, Mr. Lewis or the new deal—it is a good bet he won't establish a third political party in the United States. Granted that he has a better chance than any of the others who have led militant minorities. He still a good bet.

The two-party system isn't necessarily permanent, but as long as it continues to be as handy as it has been during most of the country's existence, it will command support. It's a habit that will be hard to break.

Formerly, this used to be conceded without question. Due to John Lewis' sudden and spectacular rise to power, however, many are overlooking the obvious difficulties in the way of a third party. They're so great, or almost as great, as they ever were.

An Inseparable Pair.

EVERY EXPLOSION over Shanghai hurled Japan and China closer to the depression that must follow war. Japan, precariously perched on a war boom, and China, borrowing money to buy munitions, will share economic disaster if they engage in a long conflict. Neither can stand the strain.

In Europe, feverishly preparing for war, there is the same kind of prospect, many times enlarged. Armaments have become dominant stimulus to business—not only because money is being spent on guns, forts, ships and planes, but because governments are accumulating raw materials and tools for their various programs of "defense."

The United States can not escape the war boom—does not want to escape the war boom. For the first six months of this year American exports to Japan amounted to $185,500,000, as compared with $2,000,000 during the first six months last year. Exports to Europe are interesting.

Money is being spent like water, not only for the shells bursting over Shanghai but for shells being stored in ammunition dumps in every nation of Europe. The German Institute for business research estimates that six billion was the average annual expenditure on world armaments from 1925 to 1931, but that it soared to 15 billion dollars last year. This year it will be vastly greater due to Britain's rearmament program, which will cost $7,500,000,000 in the next five years.

The war boom is in full swing, with the next depression stalking grimly behind it.

The Upper Sandusky machine who arrested National Guardsmen for driving past a traffic light, evidently goes on the theory that the results are about the same whether a reformer is snuffed up by a military automobile or one of the civilian type.

A 19-year-old youth accused of trying to kidnap an airplane pilot at an altitude of 2,000 feet made the mistake of trying to start a hitchhiker in a lowdown business.

In the midst of the overseas madman from the League of Nations ranks as the world's outstanding group of forgotten men.

Here in America China, Japan and Spain are fighting it out for supremacy in the headlines.

Today in Washington

Senator Guffey's Trade Against Democrats
 Bids Well To Be Next Campaign Issue.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24—Some times out of an unexpected quarter a speech, a letter, a debate in congress comes the issue of a national campaign. Unusually, Senator Guffey of Pennsylvania, Democrat, has furnished what may prove the paramount question of the 1938 congressional campaign.

Stated in the simplest form, the question is: Shall representative government in America survive, or shall it be replaced by the dictatorship of a political clique entrenched in power through the political use of federal officers and federal funds?

Mr. Guffey set forth the proposition that a senator or representative elected on the Democratic ticket to congress must support 100 per cent the recommendations of President Roosevelt and otherwise the congressmen is an "inferior" or "disloyal" Democrat. This is a conception of party loyalty which in recent years, has been put into effect in Nazi Germany and in Fascist Italy where the national legislatures have lost their independence. These all decisions are made by Hitler or Mussolini and where the Fascist party is the only political party allowed to exist.

It applied to the United States and it carried out with respect to Senator Guffey himself. It might mean, for instance, that when Secretary Wallace persuaded President Roosevelt that Europeans ought to buy more agricultural products, steel and other goods from America, the presidential order for lower tariffs on Pennsylvania's products would have to be accepted by Mr. Guffey without a murmur. However, it has been assumed that representative really represented the people of his district and that a senator represented the people of his state and their economic interests. Certainly the southern members of congress in the recent past, have not been unfaithful to their regional interests, for they have fought for cotton loans and have attempted to block minimum wage legislation which they thought would arbitrarily raise costs of production in southern textile mills.

Concept of Loyalty
 But Mr. Guffey's concept of party loyalty, even if not applied to local interests, is still more revolutionary when it touches national questions. On these, a senator's responsibility, according to the tenets of Guffey, is not to vote his own convictions, but to suppress his own views and follow along with the wishes of the party leader—the President.

Thus, if the President wishes to destroy the effectiveness of one of the branches of the American government, a United States senator elected in 1932 or 1936 on the Roosevelt ticket is supposed to forfeit all rights to differ with Mr. Roosevelt and to go along in rubber-stamp fashion. Here is exactly how Mr. Guffey expressed it in his radio speech last week.

"I was elected to the United States senate in 1934 because I assured the voters of Pennsylvania that it was my intention to support loyalty and without wavering the program of the Chief Executive."

This means 100 per cent voting for all Roosevelt measures, even if they reduce the purchasing power of the pay envelopes of Pennsylvania workers. It means that, so far as Pennsylvania is concerned, there is no need for one of its United States senators in Washington.

WASHINGTON—The sort of fish the President is hooking down the Potomac river these summer week-ends is an enticing subject to Washington.

Three times in a month he's taken his rather antiquated presidential yacht, the Potomac, down the river from the navy yards to cast bait over the side on sunny Sundays.

Just for a rest, say White House announcements.

But Washington is looking beyond the announcements to the President's fishing companions on these three trips. On recent week-ends in July they were Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan and Senator Robert La Follette of Wisconsin. On the second week-end in August the guest was Senator Sherman Minton of Indiana.

Could the fish the President sought to hook on these trips possibly be an alternate for 1940? Certainly the three gentlemen didn't just sit aft and angle. They have ideas; and if their tongues wagged at all, they must have wagged in the time familiar to them.

And what are the times? Three Good Friends.
 La Follette and Minton have voted in times of crisis. Roosevelt ticked in the senate. They have placed their official approval on all the Rooseveltian moves toward the more abundant life—such as TVA, social security, AAA, the coast reform bill, the Wagner labor relations act, the holding company bill, reciprocal trade treaties, housing and the wages and hours bill.

The two senators who have hooked fish with the President have jobs that put all their major ideas on record. But there's head-bowed Governor Murphy of Michigan. He seems to be driving in the same direction. In a recent speech he tion to read bills, attend committee meetings or consider legislation on his merits. An that would be necessary, an Senator Burke of Nebraska said in last week's debate would be to telephone Mr. Farley or the White House and find out how to vote.

"Pennsylvania" said Mr. Burke, "I want that kind of representation in the senate, and if they do, God bless them let them have it, but to me it would seem that, if the state is to have that kind of representation, it might as well have a party in a cage in the secretary's office, and bring it in when the senator's name is called and have him say, 'Yes Mr. President, count me in for that too! That is not my idea of what a senator should do!'"

This Guffey view of government is, of course, close to Fascism. It certainly is not liberalism. The truly liberal point of view was here expressed by the late Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, Progressive, in senate debate as follows:
 "I had supposed until recently that it was the duty of senators and representatives in congress to vote and act according to their convictions. Quite another doctrine has recently been promulgated and that is the doctrine of standing back of the President without inquiring whether the President is right or wrong. For myself, I have never subscribed to that doctrine and never shall. I shall support the President in measure and proportion when I believe them to be right. I shall oppose measures proposed by the President when I believe them to be wrong."

O'Mahoney Statement
 Not far different from this was the eloquent statement of that brilliant young Progressive from Wyoming, Senator O'Mahoney, who in the senate last Saturday answered Mr. Guffey's challenge thus:

"I would rather walk out of the door of this chamber, and never return, than to surrender any honest conviction I have. I say to you, senators of the United States, as long as I am in this body, I shall raise my voice and cast my vote as my conscience dictates and nobody, whether he comes from Pennsylvania or from New York or any other state, can tell me or the people of my state what I should or should not do."

The view of the new deal challenge on representative government—shared in by Mr. Roosevelt—as a strange mixture of political spoils and political favor. If Mr. Roosevelt uttered a friendly word for a Democratic congressional candidate while visiting the latter's state in a campaign, this now is construed to put the Democrat, if elected, into a straitjacket. He is supposed to do the President's bidding even if contrary to his own convictions, or to the interests of the voters of his state. Both Mr. Farley and Mr. Guffey have a concept of party "loyalty" which is of the Tammany and political boss variety. If the American people want to be ruled by a political clique who seek to apply nationally the undemocratic and arbitrary methods of boss discipline and tyranny which have corrupted the government of our large cities, where oligarchy and corruption build building contracts for their friends and nephews precisely as Senator Guffey gets millions of dollars of government projects for his political friends and lieutenants in Pennsylvania, the voters of the country may have a chance in the 1938 congressional elections to express themselves on this very issue.

Fishing for 1940?

These Trips Down the Potomac—Did Any
 Hooks Come Up With Any F. D. R. Labels?

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—The sort of fish the President is hooking down the Potomac river these summer week-ends is an enticing subject to Washington.

Three times in a month he's taken his rather antiquated presidential yacht, the Potomac, down the river from the navy yards to cast bait over the side on sunny Sundays.

Just for a rest, say White House announcements.

But Washington is looking beyond the announcements to the President's fishing companions on these three trips. On recent week-ends in July they were Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan and Senator Robert La Follette of Wisconsin. On the second week-end in August the guest was Senator Sherman Minton of Indiana.

Could the fish the President sought to hook on these trips possibly be an alternate for 1940? Certainly the three gentlemen didn't just sit aft and angle. They have ideas; and if their tongues wagged at all, they must have wagged in the time familiar to them.

And what are the times? Three Good Friends.
 La Follette and Minton have voted in times of crisis. Roosevelt ticked in the senate. They have placed their official approval on all the Rooseveltian moves toward the more abundant life—such as TVA, social security, AAA, the coast reform bill, the Wagner labor relations act, the holding company bill, reciprocal trade treaties, housing and the wages and hours bill.

The two senators who have hooked fish with the President have jobs that put all their major ideas on record. But there's head-bowed Governor Murphy of Michigan. He seems to be driving in the same direction. In a recent speech he said, "Our people are not suffering from another abuse: from a few having too much."

It was Murphy, in an interview at Bridgeport, Conn., who said to a reporter: "There is considerable support in the nation for the very issue for President Roosevelt."

It was Murphy who set patiently through hours of talk in the six weeks General Motors strike this spring getting a compromise agreement without ordering his state troops to evacuate the strikers.

In February this year President Roosevelt sent a message to congress asking for a change in the supreme court. But two years before that young, black-headed, pugnacious Senator Minton shouted at an Indiana crowd, "You can't eat the Constitution!" Republicans decided quite loudly that he had no respect for the Constitution, but the voters decided to send him to congress.

As soon as Mr. Roosevelt arrived here in 1933 the first step for federal relief, but months before that, young Senator La Follette had been browbeaten the senate for just that. Since Roosevelt took the steering wheel La Follette has voted with him and asked for more as far as relief is concerned. In one speech he observed cynically, that anyone today taking Homer Greeley's advice, "Go west, young man, go west," would have to thumb his nose.

So this is the trio which has gone fishing with the President most recently. These are the men whose ideas, unless they played the part of dead-mules hammered on the consequences of Mr. Roosevelt for 24 hours.

What water wants to know if they sink any hooks into the Potomac that were shaped like "F. D. R." and if they brought up any dripping fish initiated "F. D. R."

TEN YEARS AGO.

It was Wednesday, Aug. 24, 1927. Many persons were injured in riots staged in Chicago, Boston, Paris and other cities in this country and in Europe as a result of the execution of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, Communists convicted of slaying two men in a payroll holdup.

Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Clifford W. Chapman of West Columbia street, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lindner of Merchants' avenue and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Holdridge of West Marion.

Mrs. B. F. Shurtz of West Church street received word of the safe arrival in New York City of her daughter, Mrs. Emerson Schoenbaum, who had been on a tour of Europe. She was a resident of Washington, Va.

Mrs. Kate Goorlich and Miss Estaline Zieg gave a 6 o'clock dinner at the Goorlich home on Windsor street complementing Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haberman, who were to leave soon for Chicago where Mr. Haberman was employed in the city schools.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

It was Friday, Aug. 24, 1917. Hill No. 304 on the Vaudin front, a dominating eminence about which some of the fiercest fighting of the World War was waged, was finally in full possession of the French, the war office at Paris reported. Heavy fighting for three big base cities marked operations on the western, Italian and eastern fronts. These cities were Lens, northern France, Trieste on the Italian front and Riga at the northern end of the eastern front.

The gun crew of the American oil tanker Navajo reported that they had sunk the first of the new giant 400-foot German submarines sent out to destroy Allied shipping. The victory was scored following a 24-hour fight off the Irish coast in which many shells were fired.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. John W. Hader of Oak street.

Mrs. George D. Copeland and Mrs. I. S. Guthery were visiting in Cleveland.

The feature picture at the Marion theater was "The Little Duchess" starring Madge Evans and Al the Grand Pauline Frederick had the leading role in "The Love That Takes."

In the last quarterly conference of the church year held at the United Brethren church the members voted to ask for the return of the pastor, Rev. D. C. Hollinger, for another year.

Audiences Loved It

Death of James McIntyre Recalls Good, Old
 Vaudeville and Circus Days of Long Ago.

WHEN James McIntyre took his last bow on Aug. 18, absorbing forever the money making vaudeville team of McIntyre and Heath, many a tear was shed for the dead, gone days when nimble wits and legs went racing across the stages of America.

An obituary in the New York Times (the writer should be called out for a howl himself) is representative of the kind of reminiscence that McIntyre's death inspired. It follows:

"Jim McIntyre and Tom Heath were comedians in burnt cork back in the post-Civil war days when people took their vaudeville like their liquor—straight. Their humor was on the broad side, innocent of even subtle sex connotations, but that generation had no particular love for subtlety in the theater and the McIntyre and Heath stuff rolled them in the red pulp aisles.

"McIntyre was the younger member of the team. He was born at Kenosha, Wis. on Aug. 8, 1857. Thomas K. Heath was born in Philadelphia on Aug. 11, 1858. Jim lived a sort of Huckelberry Finn existence as a boy, but before he was out of his teens he was a candy butcher on the run between Kenosha and Rockford, Ill.

"Even in those days he showed promise of a great future on the stage. When a cow herd held the local up on the run and the passengers were in danger of being bored, Jim would get out in the aisles and entertain them with his clever jiggling.

"Several times when the circus wagons rolled through Kenosha Jim tried to light out with them, but he was always caught and fetched back home. He got his first chance as a dancer in Pece Kervin's Concert Hall at Clark and Madison streets in Chicago. The pay was poor, but the applause was deafening.

Leaves Chicago
 "That settled it for Jim McIntyre. He left Chicago about five years after the Civil war and got a job with Katie Putnam's show—a ballad and dancing act that would make his generation shudder.

"But it went over big in those days. The gentlemen in the audience let the tears run down into their silk handkerchiefs and droned off the surplus in their sideburns. The ladies sobbed openly as they leaned back against the hoops of their crinolines, too, when Katie and her girls got off the stirring words of 'What Are the Wild Waves Saying?' 'Mrs. Lefty and L' and the heart jerker that later failed, 'Hannah's at the Window Binding Shoes.'

"Horse drawn circus shows were as common in those days as name bands are in ours. Jim persuaded the proprietor to let him get up on a barn door stretched between two wooden horses so that he could get plenty of 'clums' out of his close proximity. The customers liked it and Jim claved on, doing odd jobs on the side.

His next step really launched him. In 1871-72 he was with Burton and Ridgeway's minstrel. The stage of the land was filled with trailing minstrel shows. They toured their painful way along dusty roads in the south and traveled the Indians and the rough miners and cattle men in the west. It was in the period when the minstrel men were giving America—and the world—the beautiful Stephen Foster melodies, 'Old Black Joe,' 'My Old Kentucky Home' and 'Way Down Upon the Swanee River' lightened heart strings when burnt cork men sang them for the first time.

With "Great Transatlantic"
 "Jim McIntyre has a snort session in Ed Brannon's minstrel in Texas in 1873 and later joined up with another wagon circus—the Great Transatlantic, four mules and a couple of flea-bitten cars, but they looked magnificent to entertainment starved communities along the great American rivers and in the wide spaces of the west. Anything went—or almost anything, so long as the girls didn't become bawdy and show their cotton stockings above the ankle or use any word stronger than 'jiggledy'.

"McIntyre teamed up with a dancer and burnt cork man named William Butler. His partner he came indisposed and by a stroke of fortune sickness also caught at the head of Frank Miller, who was Tom Heath's partner on the same program in the Tivoli theater in San Antonio. McIntyre and Heath came into being in that hour. They discussed plans for their act, then worked it out together and clicked from the start. They were the perfect pair.

"By 1883 the name of McIntyre and Heath was known in every bit of the country. They were the perfect pair.

In New York

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 24—Broadway offered two highly entertaining free shows this afternoon, when often tied up traffic in a complete jam, and required police to keep the sidewalk crowded. The free shows were seen by millions and were a buildup for the wizardry of the young "Mr. Kink Doodle" Lavin.

One of the free shows was a small electrical wire on the east side of Times Square, the other, a larger spread across the Astor theater to ballroom a movie. Young Lavin came to the big town from Florida several years ago, a young man with a big dream and got the usual outfit.

To give action life and variety to the street, Lavin would seem a job of his party. But that was Lavin's dream and he realized it. He began to date with assets of a million. He signs out capers, play tricks and the stories. Ducks dive for fish and elephants ride velocipedes.

Does back at the moon and snap at their legs. Camels turn about nonchalantly and bite off their humps, roundabouts come out looking for the sun and do a snappy rumba. In a few months he has made more of an elaborate system hereabout, seem as up to date as a Gay 92 dress.

In the modern world I think I miss the old time drug store and the utter abandonment of the "sample table" near the entrance. It was spread so extensively with free little tins of horrible smelling salves, vials of pills and boxes of cough cures, that no one could pass by without a sniffing of the symptoms. There was a large box containing a lot of symptoms. There was a large box containing a lot of symptoms. There was a large box containing a lot of symptoms.

Strangers who enjoy New York most I think are those who come here without advance notice and simply let themselves go. Like John B.roughs in London, who wandered until he got lost, pulled out his shilling map and found himself again. There are several points from which one may start. Radio City, The Empire, The Bar, Central Park, Times Square, etc., out after tea any set plans are boring. For instance, in early days in New York, I used to ride away on a entire evening horse along that block in West 17th street between Broadway and 6th avenue known as Malabar Alley. I remember before I learned it was one of the best boiled areas of the city. There are many more stretches, and one comes upon them just wandering.

Leonard Hall calls Jerome Zerbe "society's honey boy photographer." An apt paragon for a young socialite who has lifted snaphotting celebrities into the realm of white tie. Zerbe, most of whose shots are taken at "the 41," the Stork Club and El Morocco, is forth for the daily chore after theater, all independent in top hat and clasp hammer coat. He has a familiar brush with such names as Vanderbilt, Whitney, Gould and the like and they willingly pose for him in mink and ermine. Such pictures are snapped up by society magazines and newspaper pages dealing with things. Chalk Knickerbocker works up a jabber about.

With few exceptions New York stage door keepers are deaf or partially so. They are deaf, of course, but that they should be deaf seems more coincidence. The doorman is kindly, beloved by players. His salary is small but it happens to have a job where there has been a run he receives a nice purse from the company when the show closes. Door keepers are snatched like The sat in horseshoe chairs, puffing pipe and not interested in the potpourri of gossip back stage. Unlike wardrobe women, not many were players.

Boy meets Girl. They weaved out of a street bar in impenetrable blur. He staggered under a taxi at the curb, plunged into it and was off without a word. The girl waved her hand. But after a few days' turned and called "You certainly drunk me up pretty, too tomato!"

A Book a Day
 By JOHN SELBY.

IT IS a pleasure to inform prospective readers of "Personal Power Through Speech" that the too-serious yet ingratiating chap speaking a fling on the jacket is not, after all, a figure out of Dale Carnegie's immortal opus. Nor does he set the tone of the new book; this is perfect, serious, and no doubt helpful, but it doesn't smack of those marvelous ways in which people ask out of your mind that Mr. Carnegie would about so profitably.

No-frankly, this is a text book. It was issued last year under what the publishers call its "educational title." This was "Basic Principles of Speech." The title you read in the preceding paragraph is what is known as the book's "library edition" title. What the idea is behind all this the publisher must explain himself.

McNaught-Selby and Co. have worked seriously to produce a good book on how to speak in public. They are brave men, and deserve success, for before publishing they sent out manuscript or proof to 21 university professors for comment and correction. One of these experts was Clifton T. Hardy.

It seems to this reader that the publisher has succeeded brilliantly. Certain things, such as breathing in until you feel your stomach rising, may be a little far fetched, but have yet to see a truly effective speaker who gulped huge quantities of air while spouting what is said about gesture is, in balance, remarkably sensible. And the traps of so-called "facial expression" are beautifully exposed. It would be a real pleasure to send copies of this book to wood for general free distribution. The Hollywood "engineering" is emotion in the deadly earnestness is exposed accurately. The authors think that the less you manipulate your face, the better, in or out of the films.

It should be remembered, however, that the book is aimed at the university undergraduate, and that some of the illustrations (mostly in photographs) are in keeping with this aim.

No More Sweepstakes Until Cases of Four Are Settled in Legal Action.

George E. Planck, manager of the Palace theater, said today no further attempts will be made to operate the regular Wednesday sweepstakes feature until he and three employees of the theater are tried in municipal court on charges of operating the game.

Hearing for Mr. Planck and the three women employees, Misses Helen D. Groves, Mary Alice Wata and John Pearl Sreves, will be held at 9 a. m. Sept. 1 before Judge William E. Martin. City Solicitor Ralph E. Carhart will represent the city and J. M. Strellitz is attorney for the defendants.

Mr. Planck said today if Judge Martin finds him and the three women employees not guilty the sweepstakes feature will be resumed as a weekly feature.

MRS. HAHN AWAITS DATE OF HER TRIAL

Judge To Have Toxicologist Examine Poison Findings of City Chemist.

By The Associated Press. CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 24.—Mrs. Anna Hahn may learn the date of her trial on murder charges when she returns before Judge Charles S. Bell tomorrow as counsel argues further motions.

Judge Bell said he would name a toxicologist at the hearing to examine the findings of City Chemist Otto P. Bohner who reported he found poison in the viscera of George Gasman, 67, and Jacob Wagner, 78, whose mysterious deaths resulted in the filing of murder charges against the former German housewife. Attached to the court also would set a trial date.

Meanwhile, Assistant Prosecutor Carson Hoy reported his investigation in Chicago "disproved entirely" Mrs. Hahn's story that she met George Oberlander, cobbler, on the train en route to Colorado Springs and sought to aid him because he was ill.

"We do not know Mrs. Hahn and Oberlander met in Cincinnati," Hoy said as he turned his investigation to Colorado Springs.

"We can show that Mrs. Hahn took Oberlander to the Pennsylvania station in Cincinnati, where, using his money, she bought three tickets to Colorado Springs—for the cobbler, another for herself and one for her son.

"Sunday afternoon the three returned. Mrs. Hahn, registered for Oberlander at a 25-cent night hotel. She and her son went to another hotel, taking an 18 room."

BABE SNATCHED FROM CARRIAGE IN CHICAGO

Abducted in Busy Street While Mother Purchased Food for Supper.

By The Associated Press. CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—Police officials pressed every available man into the search today for a three-month-old girl and the abductor who snatched her from a baby carriage in full view of hundreds of shoppers.

The child, Diane Carol, disappeared from the carriage outside a grocery in the north side while her mother, Mrs. Dorothy Lucas, 22, was making supper purchases yesterday.

The abductor apparently escaped without arousing the suspicion of anyone in the street crowds. Police were unable to find anyone who had seen the baby taken. No did they uncover a possible motive.

Mrs. Lucas waited nearly an hour before notifying police. She said she thought her husband, Herman, 31, had taken the baby as a joke during her 10 minutes' absence and would soon return. Police found the father at home, unaware of the abduction.

The distraught mother collapsed when she realized the child was gone. The baby was still being nursed by Mrs. Lucas, who described her as having brown eyes and brown hair, an olive skin weighing 13 pounds and wearing a white dress and pink knitted shoes.

Investigators expressed doubt the infant was taken for ransom. They said the parents were in moderate circumstances. Lucas is a carpet layer and repairman.

Police Sgt. Michael Abner advanced the theory the girl was taken by a childless couple or by some mother who recently had lost a child.

Mrs. Lucas suggested another theory when she told police a former neighbor informed her husband had tried to break up their romance before their marriage Aug. 8, 1934. She said the woman lives in New York but recently had been in Chicago. She was sought for questioning.

FALL OF SANTANDER EXPECTED THIS WEEK

Franco Points to Continued Advance of His Five-Column Army.

By The Associated Press. MADRID, Aug. 24.—Continued advances by five converging columns of insurgent troops today made it "apparent," said Gen. Francisco Franco, that "fighting in Santander province is virtually ended."

The insurgent chief's Salamanca headquarters predicted in a statement that the rate of his army's advance would permit capture of the provincial capital, Santander, "before the end of the week."

Government reports, admitting in part the insurgent claims, reported forces in infantry attacks supported by fleets of tanks and large masses of artillery and aviation on the tightening semi-circle centered on the Spanish government's last important Atlantic seaport.

Los Corrales, southwest of the beleaguered city, was heavily shelled by Franco's Falencia road column, the government communiqué said.

Franco was driving that spearhead toward Torrelavega, seven miles north of Los Corrales, in an effort quickly to isolate Santander from Spain's considerably less important government stronghold on the Bay of Biscay about 90 miles to the west. Government troops, the Madrid communiqué asserted, were resisting stiffly.

Torrelavega, heavily fortified for a last ditch battle by the government army of Basques, Asturians and Santander militiamen, lies only 11 miles from Santander. Insurgent advances isolated Franco's men were but three miles from Torrelavega.

MONEY SUIT HINGED TO TAYLOR SLAYING

Mary Miles Minter's Sister Tells of Seeing Former Star "Mysterical."

By The Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Aug. 21.—Hollywood's No. 1 murder mystery, the William Desmond Taylor case, held the spotlight again today in a court fight over money between the mother and sister of Mary Miles Minter, the film director's fiancée when he was slain 15 years ago.

Mrs. Margaret Fillmore, Mrs. Minter's sister, is suing her mother, Mrs. Charlotte Shelby, to recover $18,750 but attorneys have persistently brought the Taylor murder into the testimony.

Mrs. Fillmore testified Mrs. Minter came to her home "in a very hysterical manner" the night Taylor was shot.

"She picked up a book and began reading about the South Sea Islands. The book seemed to amuse her but I picked it up later and found it dry and uninteresting," the actress' sister continued.

"Mrs. Shelby was not at home that day. I knew she was out all day and night hunting certain men to leave Mary."

The following morning Taylor's Negro house servant found the lifeless body of his employer.

Mrs. Fillmore, during her testimony cited an incident in which a former film executive openly accused her mother of having killed Taylor.

When Clyde Murphy, Mrs. Shelby's attorney asked Mrs. Fillmore if she had "reason to believe your mother killed Taylor," and "did you have any conversation with her which you suppressed?" she was unable to reply.

Mrs. Fillmore testified she "protected" her mother from making "those wild and sensational statements about the Taylor affair."

"Mrs. Shelby would say impulsive things concerning herself," she said. "She did not want Mary's position as the flower of American girlhood to suffer."

A tool was used to move a screen out from under the body of the slain actor to a fruit jar.

CHINESE FLANK JAPS SOUTH OF PEIPING

Seek To Surround and Capture Troops Stuck in Mud Amid Rain.

By The Associated Press. TIENTSIN, Aug. 24.—Crack Chinese advance guards swept around both flanks of the Japanese army, surrounded the Peiping today and struck off the 20,000 Japanese troops immobilized there by torrential rains.

A major battle with at least a quarter of a million men engaged was developing along a 150-mile front. China's modernized army, was attacking from four directions to crush the Japanese army out of conquered northeast China.

The Japanese front 30 miles southwest of Peiping was in danger of being snatched off by the surprise Chinese strategy and grave apprehension was apparent in all the Japanese areas south and west of Peiping.

All Japanese troops were hurriedly withdrawn from their extended positions west of Peiping and concentrated on the east bank of the Yunging river in the Fengtai and Wangpinghuan suburbs of Peiping and in Peiping proper.

Japanese warplanes were bombing the entire area from Mantoukou, 20 miles west of Peiping, to a point 40 miles to the southeast on the Peiping-Tientsin railway.

From a strong advance base at Peking, only 30 miles southwest of Peiping, the Chinese army thrust three divisions against the Japanese positions at Liangchiang, five miles to the north.

One division made a show of force against the Japanese frontal positions while one sped past each flank and then struck. The Chinese left wing advanced as far as Mantoukou before it pivoted while the right wing penetrated to Kanglechia, 10 miles south of the Marco Polo bridge across the Yunging at Wangpinghuan.

This placed both arms of the pincer well in the rear of the main body of Japanese at Liangchiang. Since it was almost impossible for reinforcements and supplies to reach the main army, roads to Liangchiang were choked with hundreds of Japanese trucks stuck in the mud and abandoned.

STATE G.O.P. LEADERS MEET WITH HAMILTON

By The Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—National Republican leaders began mapping today the strategy by which they hope to register victory at the polls in 1938.

Ed. C. Schorr, Ohio chairman, declared "everything indicates in Ohio that a Republican governor and a Republican state senator will be elected next year and that we will make substantial increases in the number of Republican congressmen."

NO MORE MOTHERS

By The Associated Press. CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—A revelation that the victim of the moonlight slaying in Grant park used an assumed name and had never married the woman he called his wife added new complications today to the mystery surrounding the case.

Lieut. Thomas F. Kelly of the state's attorney's staff said police had learned from questioning the woman that the slain man had adopted the alias, Robert F. Burns, after abandoning a wife and son in Detroit.

He said the woman also declared her real name was Mrs. Theresa Weenbrock, and not Mrs. Robert Burns as she had been known to her suburban Evanston neighbors for three years.

Lee, or Burns, was shot to death Sunday during a 2 a. m. tryst with a blond night club belle, 22 years old. She first told police her name was Lucille Buehler, then said it was Grace Snyder.

Lieut. Kelly said Miss Snyder would be given a lie detector test to check her account of the slaying. She added no new details to the original story that two men suddenly shot Lee while she was strolling with him in the park.

Following protests of other citizens at slaying of Helen Greene, a Washington, D. C., girl, the national death permit at Adams C. O. because she was a divorced mother, judges ruled that mothers will be barred from the contest in the future.

Minister Flays Sex Debauchers, Childless Homes

By The Associated Press. BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 24.—A Michigan clergyman, once a physical, told Buffalo's Inter-Denominational Bible conference last night that the average 16-year-old girl of today "knows more about sex than her grandmother did after she had her first baby."

"Debauchery of sex and the annihilation of the home are driving America towards moral doom," Rev. Dr. M. R. De Hain of Grand Rapids, Mich., said at the annual Bible retreat at Evangelical park.

JAPAN HITS SHANGHAI BY LAND, SEA, AIR

machine guns and hand grenades. As they scrambled up the low river bank a Chinese land mine was touched off and the "white band of death" was enveloped in a lurid sheet of flame. The few survivors closed in hand to hand combat with the Chinese.

The fighting raged along the banks of the Yangtze river from Woonung to Luhu to the west and down the Whangpoo river 12 miles to Shanghai's international settlement.

Flames were sweeping vast areas of Shanghai. Fire began sweeping Pootung, just across the Whangpoo from Shanghai's bund, before dawn. Seemingly, the Chinese were seeking to burn the great industrial section to the very waterfront rather than permit millions of dollars in property and supplies to fall into Japanese hands.

Claim 50,000 Landed. Japanese claimed they had landed 50,000 troops yesterday before today's attempts were made. Chinese asserted no more than 15,000 had been brought ashore and that Chinese batteries had taken heavy toll of those.

There was scarcely a house in Woonung untouched by the flames, the multi-million dollar Whangpoo docks were heavily damaged; the repair shops of the Shanghai-Nanking railway were demolished.

Kiaochow beach, Shanghai's Coney Island just across the river from Woonung, was bombed and completely wrecked by Japanese planes. Some 20 villages near Woonung and Kiaochow were burning.

The list of dead and wounded noncombatants from yesterday's tragic shelling of the heart of the international settlement was mounting steadily. It seemed as though the number of dead from the one shell that wrecked the two great department stores of the Sincere Co. and the Wing On Co. would easily pass 400. More than 1,000 were wounded when the blast shook the intersection of Nanking, Chekiang and Hoopoh roads.

The "five corners" is the busiest spot in the orient and probably nowhere else in the world, outside of London or New York, would more people ever be forced together. Both Chinese and Japanese officials accused the other of responsibility for the projectile that crashed into the midst of a noon-day luncheon throng.

Conservative estimates of innocent dead in the 12 days of battle for Shanghai were set at 10,000 with the wounded so numerous as to be countless.

The evacuation of Americans today brought the total of United States citizens who have fled Shanghai's war to more than 1,500.

FALSE NAMES SNARL MOONLIGHT SLAYING

Victim Was Herbert Lee, Not Robert Burns, Never Wedded Woman He Called Wife.

By The Associated Press. CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—A revelation that the victim of the moonlight slaying in Grant park used an assumed name and had never married the woman he called his wife added new complications today to the mystery surrounding the case.

Miss Buehler was also said her name was Grace Snyder and Mrs. Thompson, said Burns was shot by one of two gunmen who accosted them.

DORIS DEESTERLE, 15, WINS HEALTH TITLE

According to her experience, she helps her mother with the housework daily and also does farm chores—milk, feeding poultry and the like.

In school she gets "pretty good" grades, in her own words. She expects to attend college after graduation from high school but has not picked out the school. Although she has no definite plans as to what she would like to become when she is older, she indicated that teaching might be a satisfactory profession.

Doris has two sisters, Thelma, 17, and Ruth, 16, both of whom she says are also perfectly healthy.

Doris' examination yesterday required two doctors, Dr. N. Stiff and Dr. G. T. Watson, Marion and Crawford county health commissioners. They also examined the five other contestants.

Her only findings came in teeth for which five points were taken off, giving her 75 instead of 80. In a slight abdominal disorder resulting from the appendix, which took off 10 points from a perfect score of 40; in bone structure giving her 40 instead of 50; in thyroid development giving her 10 instead of 20 points; in perfect, rolling up 970 points out of a possible 1,000.

Points considered by the physicians were general development, including height, weight, muscles, hair and scalp and head formation; mucous membrane; skin color and texture; thyroid glands; lymph glands; posture, bones, feet; gait; lungs; heart and blood; abdomen; nervous system; eyes, nose, throat; teeth and ears.

Teeth. Perfect.

Doris' dental work was the only perfect set of teeth among the six girls. Dr. Stiff said. Other girls fell down because of various reasons: teeth, posture, thyroid glands, he said.

Doris will have to go through an even more thorough examination at Columbus, according to the county extension office, which is sponsoring the contest here. "They will be tested by specialists in every region of the body and through Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week, will be required to test the girls from all counties."

Most of the contestants at the Marion county contest were selected after examination of the approximately 250 members of the girls' 4-H clubs by county health nurses. In some instances the clubs themselves picked the contestants.

Misses Mary Holland and Betty Ralston, county nurses, assisted in the examination yesterday.

Council Studies Changes in City Zoning Ordinance

Solicitor Directed To Draft Amendment To Close Loopholes in Present Measure.

Marion's zoning ordinance, which according to a recent ruling in municipal court here is ineffective in restricting use of dwellings as part business places, occupied the attention of city council at its regular meeting last night. After City Solicitor Ralph E. Carhart explained to council and to several citizens in the gallery that the city apparently has no recourse in law under the present zoning ordinance, council passed a motion authorizing him to draft an amendment which would beyond question prohibit unresidential use of dwellings for business purposes.

SCOUTS BRING HOME BEAR AS TROPHY

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, O., Aug. 24—Boy Scout Troop 96 brought home a real souvenir—a wild Canadian black bear believed to be about three years old—when they returned over the week-end from a week's camping trip in northern Michigan.

The bear was caught with a lasso by an old hermit of the vicinity who was accompanying the boys and was brought to Delaware in a trailer. The Boy Scouts planned to put the bear on display in front of the city hall today. Yesterday it was at the home of William and Clifford Dochterman in Delaware, thriving on a diet principally of bread and milk.

Other citizens present last night in connection with the zoning ordinance were Mr. and Mrs. Bud E. McClain of 780 Mt. Vernon avenue and A. O. Gibson.

Council also authorized the city treasurer to make contracts with two Marion banks for depositories for the city's active funds on which no interest may now be paid under new state and federal laws. Council approved offers of the Marion County Bank to accept up to $15,000 at the 6% rate and the National City Bank & Trust Co. to accept $50,000. The city has no inactive funds, according to Mr. Carhart.

Want Traffic Light

A petition signed by a group of 36 residents of the city for a stop light at North State and George streets was referred to the police and street and alley committee.

Councilman W. P. Cass Jr. said last night that the committee will try to reduce the speed of cars on State street.

Attorney Felix Reber presented a claim for $40 on behalf of E. J. Steinman, plumber, for work done at the city jail in 1935. The work was contracted for by a civic group, now disbanded, and Mr. Reber said he feels the city owes the balance of $40 as a moral obligation since the city has had the benefit of the improvements.

Mayor Smith objected on grounds it is impossible for the city to pay $135 bills out of 1937 funds. The claim was referred to the finance committee by unanimous vote.

At this point Mr. Carhart informed council that judgment probably will be taken in municipal court against the city for $135 due on three contracts for 1935 for police cars. The B. F. Goodrich Co. supplied the tires. Mr. Carhart said he feels the city has no defense against the claim.

Residents Attend

Residents on Mt. Vernon avenue living near the Fletcher grocery were present before council last night, protesting the city's inability to halt the operation of the store. After Mr. Carhart explained that the city cannot file another criminal action against Mr. Fletcher with any assurance of a conviction and is unable to file an injunction suit because of local restrictions on the power of the city, the complaining parties indicated they are considering taking action in common pleas court as private individuals. Mr. Carhart said it is possible for individuals to seek an injunction to prevent operation of the store.

Although Mr. Carhart was directed to draft the amending ordinance for submission to the next council meeting, it is uncertain whether council will act on it immediately since the complainants in the Fletcher case believe such action by council may injure what cause they might have against Mr. Fletcher.

GALION, Aug. 24—Perhaps one of the few independent businesswomen who would think of entering the bill collector's profession is Miss Fink of Galion.

Last week Miss Fink, 40, of Galion started her own business in an office with Justice of the Peace C. F. Monroe.

In August, 1936, Miss Fink started as manager of the collection department of the Galion Credit Bureau, proving herself to be such an able collector that she opened her own business last week.

It is known as the Galion Collection Service.

Miss Fink is probably one of a few women who operate such a business. She is a genuine "Paying pounder collector," ringing door bells and saying "Why haven't you paid this bill?"

She is the first woman to be paid for her own bill if he is able to pay it.

Out of accounts collectable, Miss Fink is successful with approximately 85 per cent of them, she said. She also looks at the side of the debtor, remembering occasions when she wanted a little loan to pay an account.

In handling her collections she first sends out a letter. Then a second letter with more pressure is sent. The next step is a personal call at the home which usually works. In stubborn cases Miss Fink takes legal action after the creditor signs the bill of particulars.

It might be that Miss Fink's aptitude makes collecting where a man might fail it difficult for a "tough" creditor to value a woman.
